Family Shelter Service's Children's Program Fund-In-Need

A staggering 3.3 million children witness or experience domestic violence each year, yet children are often overlooked as victims of this devastating issue. The effects of growing up in a violent home can last a lifetime as children suffer from effects ranging from depression and anxiety to an increased likelihood of drug abuse, suicidal thoughts, and violent behavior. In addition, children living in violent homes are literally in harms way: national statistics report a significant overlap of child abuse and domestic violence.

Family Shelter is working to break the cycle with critically needed counseling services for our youngest clients. You have the opportunity tonight to raise your hand and join others in providing a brighter future for these children and ultimately, for our community. The Children's Program-in-Need is a unique element of tonight's live auction. We will dedicate the dollars you donate during this part of our evening specifically to services that mitigate the impact of domestic violence upon children. Together we can intervene in the legacy of domestic violence and provide hope to society's most vulnerable members.
